Salvation Army Appeals For Funds To 'Carry On' Overseas.

Every Man, Woman and Child Has Opportunity of Doing Noble War Work.

Ten days after Germany invaded Belgium, the Salvation Army had begun its mission of aid and mercy in the war zones of France, and from then until now, in ever increasing numbers, this organization has been carrying on its self-denying and self-sacrificing work amongst the Allied troops.

The big drum, the tambourine, the brass-cloched appeal to all and sundry to贡献; the red and blue tunics of the officers and the pipe-bonnets of the lasses are familiar to all for through over 50 years this army has been striving to restore the human in nature whenever crime and degradation had obtained a foothold, in many places even a stranglehold, in the lives of the poorer classes.

The "Army" is easily the most democratic and Christ-like among all bodies of Christians in its methods of dealing with the fallen, and for that reason it finds a ready welcome among the ranks overseas.

To-day we see the Army living up to its motto "Salvation through Blood and Fire" for it has carried its banner to the very forefront of the battle line and through fire and blood it carries comforts, which did not exist in the days of old.

The big appeal for funds to continue the same war as the "Army" is waging for Christianity.

The magnitude of their work at the front may be partly understood when it is realized that they have erected 550 huts in France, have 65 Motor Ambulances, cater for half a million Soldiers and Sailors every week, and in addition provide all the creature comforts to the boys in the trenches, rest camps etc.

All this work has been carried on at their own expense and by their own people, but the need has become so urgent and their funds are so depleted that they have no recourse but to appeal to the public for assistance.

The work must go on, for our boys need the sustaining comforts and the encouraging help which the "Army" provides so unstintingly as much almost as their ammunition and the support of their long range artillery; in fact they are absolutely essential to the morale of the army.

You will be asked to contribute to this noble work next week. There is no cause, excepting perhaps the Red Cross, which has such a positive claim upon—not your sympathy, charity, or generosity, for the upkeep of this work is a debt you owe to the soldiers—your means.

When you have given all you feel you can afford give again, for the very greatest sum which could be raised would not half compensate your boy, your friends, your relations for the sacrifice they are now making, nor could it provide one-half of the necessities which could be provided for them and still leave us their debtors.

Don't forget that the "Army" has been working for four years and that it has given everything to this work which really is no more their concern than ours, but the equal privilege of every one to share.

Give—but give cheerfully and to the full extent of your means.

Thrift Hallmarks A Nation

Saving the almighty dollar in order to gratify one's desire in the matter of personal purchases has been a working force in society for all time. To save for the sake of saving the golden ducats is a foreign country that has afflicted the masses of all time. To save in order to buy another stronger is the liveliest form of thrifing known. And in exercising this virtue of laying aside extra dollars from our present surpluses, for the better living of society when times may not be so generous, we carry in us the marks of the true Canadian patriot.

He who loves his country is no dreamer. He knows his savings form the capital that makes business go. The dollar soon doubles itself and total savings of a thrifty people work out the nation of a really great people. Let us of our Canadian home land demands of every resident from the Yukon to Cape Breton, that he save his surplus dollars against a possible rainy day. The thrifty man is one of Canada's big patriots.

Annual Meeting of Red Cross

The Annual Meeting of the Red Cross Society will be held at the Town Hall on Thursday October 2d.

The attendance of every member is required, and it is to be hoped that every woman in town will make a special effort to be there, and on time.

There is much to be discussed, much to be accomplished, and a large enthusiastic meeting will do much to ensure success for the coming year work.

Local Rancher Badly Hurt in Accident

While endeavoring to check a bunch of steers from stampeding at the Beynon loading platform on Sunday Tom Evans had the misfortune to slip and in falling on a heap of rails and ties badly fractured his collar bone.

First aid was administered to him by a brakeman and after being fixed up as well as possible under the circumstances Tom drove back in a Ford Car the whole distance—a matter of nearly sixty miles—to Bassano, by himself. An example of sheer bulldog grit which will be better appreciated by those who know the condition of the roads between here and the river.

Presbyterian Rally.

Rally Day will be observed on Sunday at the Presbyterian Church. The parents are urgently requested to attend the Sunday School at 10:30 a.m.; when a special illustrated programme will be rendered. W. E. Deckard of Lethbridge, will give a short address, the subject being, "In Jesus' Name." In the morning the offering will be used to help forward the S. S. and Young People's work, of the Church. The service at 7:30 will also be of an especially natural suitable for the occasion. The choir will render special music, and the address in keeping with Young People's work. The Sunday following October 6th anniversary services will be held. Full particulars next week. Everybody invited. Come.

To Be a Leader You Must Dress Like One

Society Brand Clothes

THE men who pay strict attention to their clothes are the ones who hit on all cylinders in the pursuit of success. They know the importance of not missing fire in a matter that counts to much as personal appearance.

To be sure of having that right, a man must wear styles that are right—and you will find them in every suit or overcoat that bears the label—

Society Brand Clothes

These styles for men are first of all authentic. That means they are always in good taste—sensible. That they are refined—not foppish. Never extreme and yet they have a distinguished way about them that makes the man who wears them look distinguished.

Society Brand styles are hand tailored into every garment, and when the style's tailored in to stay in there's no way the coat or trousers can lose shape. The cloth may get old but the style stays young.

There is nothing better in fabric, fit and workmanship. If that sounds good to you, you'll like the clothes even better. Come in and look them over at your leisure.

"Worlds In The Making"

Dr. Arthur D. Carpenter, astronomer with the late Faculty of Science of McGill University, has written "The Worlds in the Making" to be given to the Festival. Talking for his subject, "The Greater Universe and the Small," Dr. Carpenter brings to the audience of the people a wealth of scientific research in "languages understandable to the young" from the youngest to the oldest in his audience. The book is designed with a night subject. Dr. Carpenter is extremely human, interesting frequent illustrations that will aid in driving home important scientific facts.

It seems strange that in our public and private schools today little is taught of the stars. In the early years of the steep side of Canada, while walking the rocky trails under drifts of snow, I had obtained a far better knowledge of the starry heavens than the average man of a dozen years. Yet no branch of knowledge is of more absorbing interest.

To present the marvels of the universe in terms of the popular mind has been the life-work of Dr. A. D. Carpenter, eminent scientist and astronomer. There is not a dry minute in his lecture, "Worlds in the Making."

The Mayor has called a public meeting of the ratepayers for Wednesday, next, with the object of laying before them the financial condition of the town and to invite a full discussion on the subject with a view to introducing some curative measures into the present system of assessment and taxation.

Bassano finds itself to-day on the verge of bankruptcy by its absolute inability to raise revenue out of its forfeited property and there is but little hope in the near future of realising cash out of the thousands of dollars worth of lots which represents the town's indebtedness.

We say that Bassano is on the verge of bankruptcy, advisedly, for it is by no means too late yet to avoid the final catastrophe of the town passing into the receiver's hands.

But every ratepayer must take his full share of the burden of responsibility for any new system which may be devised, and the best guarantee of his good faith and intentions would be his attendance at this meeting.

It should be borne in mind that the present situation has not been brought about by any act of the present Council nor of any of its predecessors, but the responsibility lies like so many of our municipal evils in the practice of mortgaging the present in the hope—too often the vain hope—of being able to build up the town more rapidly, with the consequence that when the restricting influence of the war set in, we found ourselves saddled with paper assets and a bonded indebtedness which has to be paid in cash.

Never-the-less the Town of Bassano is not yet prepared to throw up the sponge and unless we mistake public sentiment the town hall will be packed with ratepayers who will take part in the discussion and be ready to suggest and accept some feasible remedy for the situation.

Until we are convinced that the ratepayers have a wishbone in place of a backbone, we shall maintain that "Bassano is still the best in the west, etc."

What Will Japan Do In Asia

Dr. Y. Minakuchi, the noted Japanese scholar and lecturer will speak on the first evening of our Festival. "Dr. Minakuchi's subject will be 'The Oriental Problem,' and under this title he will discuss the political and international questions of the hour, Japan's relations with the United States and Japan's policy in the Far East.

"There was a time," says Dr. Minakuchi, "when it was possible for an American to travel Japan. Now you can travel the route in six days. With the two great nations brought close together Americans and Japanese should learn more of each other. We have been in touch with each other's ways without mutual understanding just what the conditions are. There can be real international peace, or peace between nations, so long as there is a misunderstanding."

Regarding his country's policy in the Far East, about which there is such a conflict of opinion, Dr. Minakuchi avows that "Japan's ambition in China is economic not political. Her political interference with China was primarily caused by the political interference with China by the European powers."

Speaking of his country's policy in America, Dr. Minakuchi's powerful influence in promoting good will and better understanding between the two nations. The timely value of his lecture is emphasized by the recent rise of race of life insurance companies as a result of the war. He speaks English fluently and lightly and with a serious but with a bright humorous manner.

CREATION OF THE EASTERN FRONT WEAKENS THE HUNS IN THE WEST

FIRST MOTIVE OF MURMAN EXPEDITION IS NAVAL
The Germans Are Set On An Eastern Political Solution Of Their Troubles and This Fact Strengthens the Argument For Reconstituting the Eastern Front

Most people are agreed that the final decisive battles of the war will be fought in the west. There are, however, more ways than one of inflicting a defeat on the Allies. The Germans may have more men to meet the Germans or you may have fewer Germans. Fewer Germans to meet is to reconstitute the eastern front, that is, to move the German troops from the west to the east. The German strength will wane owing to the increased demands of the war, and the transfer will strengthen the argument for reconstituting the eastern front.

The Germans could not all the difficulties by piling up men in the west put their savings in their stockings. The final solution will come to the west, believe in action in the east that we shall have to meet in those decisive western battles. Instead of putting all their strength in the west, they would put them out at least; for the great argument for which we are fighting is that the "war in the east" is that the employment of a comparatively small amount of man power will be an increase of man power at compound interest.

The old eastern front ran from the Caucasus, thence to Egypt, and from Egypt to Mesopotamia, where it was joined by the Tigris and Euphrates, Armenia and northern Persia. That front has disappeared. The Persians are now in the Caucasus, and the Italian forced back. On the other hand, the centre both in Egypt and Persia has been captured, but the eastern wing from the Caucasus to Persia has been moved by the Germans to the Balkans. All the men who read General Maud's despatches know how great was the importance of the Balkans in the campaign on the right. We might had the Dardanelles expedition been beaten, the Balkans would have been the breakdown of what we may call the left wing of the war in the east. We may, however, suppose that the early successes of the German offensive in France this year have driven the Germans to the Balkans, and added Damascus and Aleppo by brilliant victories to the captures of Geneva and Acre. A second front has been opened in Mesopotamia and the resources have been properly organized. The Balkans are now the seat of war, and the country between Baghdad and the Persian frontier has been organized for the resistance of the Armenians and Georgians, into a solid block.

There was the old eastern frontier. In reconstituting it we start with the unbroken and vicious British front. The British and Austro-Hungarians. Our new right still in process of formation is based on the German front, which stretches and stretches out to southern Russia. Our new left is also intact.

The object of the German plan is to put together the facts in regard to have them published, and to certain military conclusions on the part of our new eastern front as a whole.

The establishment of our new front in the Balkans has two motives. The first is to difficultly in the military problem made by the adhesion of Finland to the German military system. While the Finns were long in the tent of the Central Powers, but it is now impossible that we should remain indifferent to the talk of their lending themselves to a support of German designs. Finland is the bridge between the Baltic and the open sea. A bridge independent of the British, and her dependence on Germany is as great a menace to us as the German invasion of France. The Danes would be one. Another, Kaiser Germany, would be another. Kaiser Germany, of course, would be a part of the British fleet. The first motive, then, of the Murman expedition, is that Finland under German control would, strategically, be in the same position as Belgium, and that the British would offer precisely the same temptation of German aggression as Belgium did.

The second motive of our new front in the north is to get into contact with the German Ruthenian nationalism. The Murman coast is a little use but purpose, for the advantage of the north, the Murman coast along the whole way to flank the occupied towns of Finland. Hence the occupation of Archangel, with its railway to the south to serve as a base for the German fleet, and the basis of their supply.

The prospects in this northern region are not promising, and from Archangel to Vologda, the national feeling is strong.

The other great centre of Russian nationalism is the Kuan Province, and the Kuan Province and east to the Sea of Azov, which is under Cossack rule and is the only part of Russia that any other part of Russia. Immediately north of the Don Province, the Cossacks are the only part of the Cossacks, as distinguished from the Cossacks. In the north again are the

In England they say: "A shilling wasted costs a soldier in the lock."

Commencing next week a series of dances will be given every second Tuesday throughout the winter. The management of the hall and dances is in the hands of Messrs. Hampson and Fother.

The Teutonic people have built up a great military machine and are trained and forced to deny themselves. In the allied nations the denial is left largely to the individuals.

Between Your House and the Elements The Paint Brush Forms The Only Real Protection

If you neglected to paint your house in the Spring, make good the deficiency now. This very week before the weather is further deteriorated, it is time to paint. It is always extravagant to let a building "go to seed" for lack of a little paint. It is a wise investment for you to neglect the painting.

Give Your Country A Leg Up-save!

Canadian patriotism demands the practice of thrift by all, let sons.

The men who are building the lines at home are those who are making it easy for the business of the country to go on with little jar to its mechanism. The steady pulling together of all citizens in the production of goods and in the conservation of all field crops marks the thrifty nation. Saving on the part of our citizens is going to be the greatest insurance we will have in Canada against a period of depression after the war. The combined capital of the individuals who make the country will form a fund of sufficient power to drive business along in a most satisfying way, despite of the prevailing hard times of such a period.

The saving man is therefore a real patriot. He has Canada's interests fundamentally at heart. May this big increase in these days when wealth is piling up under the spur of war-time efforts. Save because it hits both ways. It is a high form of patriotism. And it gives one's country a leg up in a critical time. Put by that extra dollar now. The long procession of thrifty dollars will make a line that will not waver—Hindenburg or no Hindenburg.
